

To whom it may concern,

My father, Kristen Davis Kehrig, was the only son of Hope Harding Davis Kehrig, who was the only child of Bessie McCoy and Richard Harding Davis. Bessie was a dancer with the Ziegfeld Follies and Richard was a published author and famous war correspondent. Richard's mother, Rebecca Harding Davis, was a published author as well. Richard's sister, Nora, was married to the Reverend F. Percival Farrar, who was a chaplain to King George at Sandringham. Charles Dana Gibson, a close friend of Richard's and also a guardian to Hope when her parents died, was an American artist. . He was best known for his creation of the Gibson Girl and Richard was said to have been the model for the Gibson Man.
